Dear Mr. Carano:

Please excuse the delay in answering your welcome letter of March 14. I am looking forward to addressing your convention and also to the chance of meeting and talking with some of you individually.

I will, as we discussed on the phone, prepare a speech and send you copies in advance for duplicating.

For the moment, I cannot say exactly when I will get there of if my wife will accompany me. I hope she will, and I would prefer to attend the Friday evening event which would provide time and opportunity for more dialogue.

In any event, I will be there in advance of the Saturday evening meeting and, if we have not been in communication between now and then, before June 10 I will tell you when I will arrive and if my wife will be with me.

I am really looking forward to this and hope it will be as stimulating and rewarding as I believe you also think it can be.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
